Council Studies Suite Proposal

At the regular meeting of Town Council on Thursday, July 13th, Mr. Louis Jodoin of Mordway Developments Ltd. presented a proposal to develop a group of fourplex units in the Parkview Subdivision.

The buildings would be approximately 44 by 48 feet containing four self-contained living units in each building. The suites would be intended for use by single persons and childless couples.

Council discussed the matter at some length with Mr. Jodoin who noted that a similar undertaking in Hinton had been very well received. He also stated that the possibility of two bedroom suites was also under consideration.

Council pointed out that rezoning and study of conformity to the zoning and building bylaw would be required before a decision would be made.

The request was referred to the Development Committee for study and recommendation.

Councillor Catherine Waugh reported on a joint meeting of municipal authorities in Stony Plain recently to investigate the feasibility of forming a Preventive Social Services program in the region. Representatives were present from the County and the towns of Entwistle, Stony Plain, Spruce Grove and Drayton Valley.

Mr. Mel Findlay, Assistant Director of Provincial Preventive Social Services was present and delivered a detailed, interesting account of the programs as envisaged by the provincial government and being followed in some areas of the province.

He covered a very comprehensive area that Preventive Social Service programs are meant to deal with - from babysitting of children for working mothers to initiating participatory projects for Senior Citizens. He also mentioned the problems of the "drop-out", "the Family Life Educators".

In all of these concerns can and do arise and by an effective Preventive Social Service Program the problems can be headed off and remedied thus preventing a social burden on the area. He pointed out the need to work very closely with recreational and leisure programs of the area to eliminate duplication and to get the very best out of the combined effort.

return meeting on October 4th, at 7:00 p.m. in the County Council Chambers in Stony Plain to ascertain the feeling of all municipal councils in the area regarding the Preventive Social Services Program.

Councillor Bob Mayhew reported on progress at the airport since the last meeting.

The proposed nuisance grounds site west of town was discussed and it was pointed out that representatives of Lands and Forests Environment and Provincial Health Departments have inspected the site and there appears to be no objection to the proposal. Council is now investigating the possibility of trading the old nuisance grounds site for the new one.

Council, at its previous meeting, discussed unsubdivided and unoccupied land in the town that was not being cared for and detracting from the general appearance of the town. Council decided that owners would be advised to clean up their property - and that failing to do so would result in town workmen doing the job and the costs charged against the owners' taxes.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By KEVIN PETERSON

Quotas and controls on the number of foreign staff members have been rejected by a provincial committee studying non-Canadian influence in Alberta universities.

While deciding the provincial government should stay out of the nationalist debate, the seven-member Moir committee has urged universities to take a critical look at their hiring and course policies to make sure Canadian content is adequate.

The 139-page report, which tries to walk the middle line between nationalist outcries for Canadian domination and pleas from the universities for an "international" approach, is likely to meet the satisfaction of no one.

It makes few criticisms of the existing situation and asks only that universities "examine their emphasis on Canadian phenomena, make recommendations in respect to the results and make themselves responsible for the implementation of those recommendations."

At the same time, it does not give the universities full marks for their Canadianization efforts to date and suggests more emphasis may be needed.

Research work done for the study group headed by Edmonton lawyer shows Canadian staff members were in the majority 1,298 to 1,051 across the province in 1971. At individual universities, only the University of Calgary had a majority of non-Canadian teachers, 55 per cent.

Broken down by subject area, Canadians are in the majority in all fields except arts and science.

The report says the high percentage of foreign instructors in Canada arose from the fourfold expansion of staff and enrolment that took place across the country between 1950 and 1970.

"The foreign born professors in the universities did not deprive worthy Canadians of jobs," it states. "They came when Canada desperately needed them, at Canada's invitation, with Canada's welcome and they performed incalculable service to Canada."

"It would be a mark of grossest ingratitude and bad manners for Canadians now to do anything to make them feel unwelcome or to label them as second-class citizens."

The report recommends

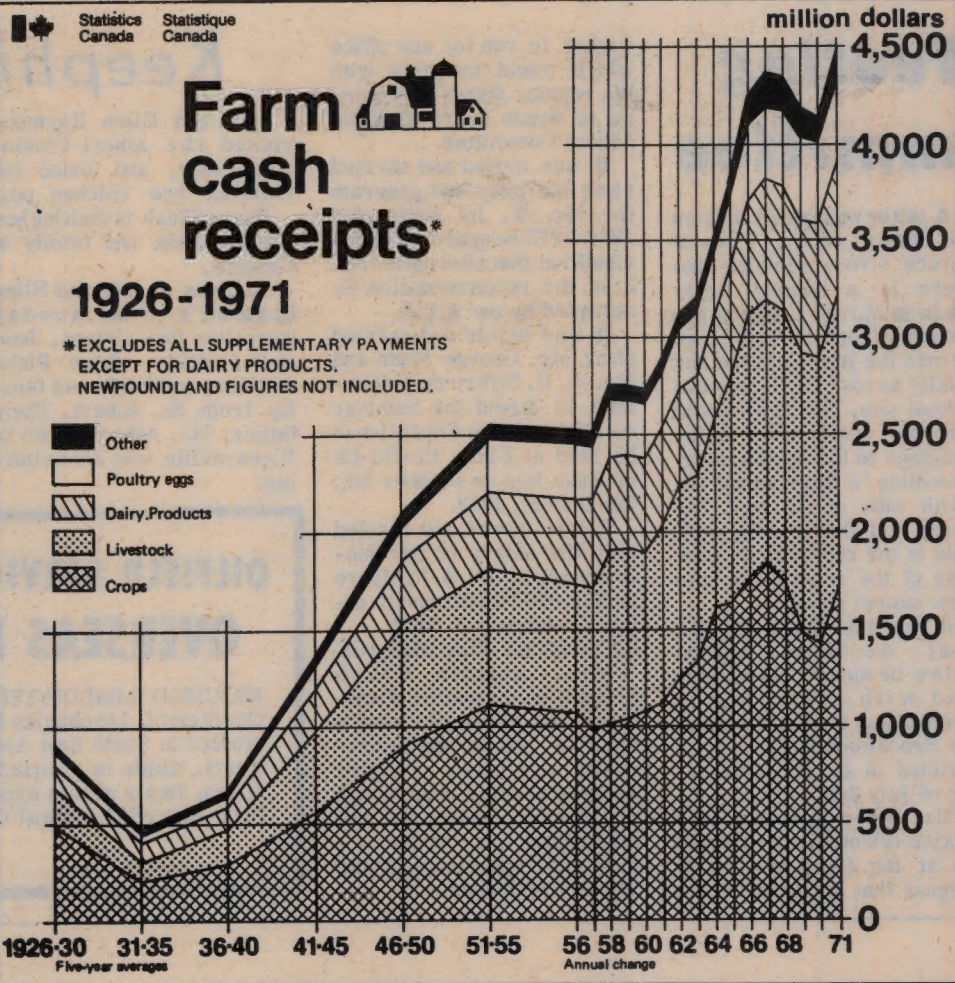

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
The Western Review,
Dear Sir:

I wish to take this opportunity to commend Mr. Rudolph Zander for his reply to Reeve Les Miller's report on the spending of monies in the County of Parkland.

The consensus of opinion among residents with whom I have discussed the report is that Mr. Miller has given an erroneous impression. When the taxpayers of L.D.77 were forced into the County of Parkland the opposition to the move was almost unanimous. To date nothing has happened to make us think we were wrong.

Yours sincerely,
Edith Deby.

Statistics Canada reports that Canadian farm cash receipts, which had been declining slightly each year since 1967, turned upward again last year and reached a new record high of $4,495 million. Chart above traces farm cash receipts over a 45-year period and shows how the revenue was divided.

Cash receipts were almost ten times as high in 1971 as they were during the depression years of 1931-35, lowest point on the chart. Receipts for crops increased eight times in the same period, dairy products seven and a half times, poultry and eggs ten times and livestock 14.7 times.

The big increase in livestock receipts accounted for the major change in product "mix". Livestock brought in only 21.9 per cent of cash receipts in those depression years, as compared with 33.6 per cent in 1971. Crops accounted for 43.7 per cent of farm revenues in 1931-35 and only 38 per cent last year. Dairy products provided 20.5 per cent of cash receipts in the thirties and 15.6 per cent last year. Poultry and eggs held about the same proportion of the market -- 3.9 per cent in 1931-35 and 9.1 per cent in 1971. "Other" receipts represented 4.9 per cent of the total in the thirties and 3.7 per cent last year.

Regarding graduate schools, the committee rejects quotas on the number of foreign graduate students. More money should be available for arts and science graduate work to increase Canadian ratios in instruction.

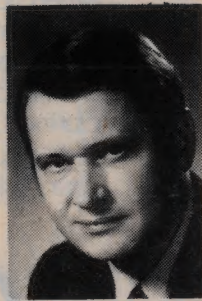

The committee was appointed by the former Social Credit government in late 1970. It was expected to complete its work in a few months but internal disagreements and statistical problems meant 18 months went by before it reported.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

Prime Minister Trudeau has been known to wear unusual clothing on occasion. Such instances rarely escape the attention of the press. But even the sharpest members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery failed to notice the extraordinary footwear the Prime Minister wore when he recently entered the House of Commons in a pair of mountain climbing boots.

Even Mr. Trudeau himself was unaware of his footwear until reminded of the Rocky Mountains by the presence in the spectators' gallery of a visitor from our part of the country.

During a recent vote in the Commons I noticed one of Banff's most respected citizens, Catharine Whyte seated in the gallery with Stella Cameron, wife of Senator Donald Cameron. Since the Prime Minister had met Mrs. Whyte on two of his visits to Rocky Mountain, I drew her presence to his attention.

After greeting Catharine with a discreet wave he turned around to tell me that he was appropriately dressed to greet a visitor from Banff since he had his climbing boots on.

Catharine was even more surprised than I a few minutes later when he met her outside the Commons door dressed sure enough in climbing boots.

That morning he had decided to spend several days mountain climbing in the Rockies during the Parliament recess. Since being introduced to the pleasures of climbing in Jasper during his 1968 visit there he has been anxious to go on another climbing trip in the Rockies.

Having decided to make the trip this summer, he bought a new pair of climbing boots and donned them. As he was seated behind his desk, even visitors to the Prime Minister's office could not see that, while he worked he was also breaking in his new boots.

Later in the afternoon when the division bells be-

The accidental death rate on the farm is 20 per cent higher, by estimate, than the national average, according to the Canada Safety Council.

In its national campaign, Farm Safety Week, July 25 to 31, the Council stresses the need for more safety practices and cautions in everyday farm activities.

The need for such a campaign is underlined by the fact that, while the farm accident rate is higher than the average for Canada, the percentage of Canadians engaged in farming has been declining. The paradoxical ratio of a high farm accident rate to a decreasing percentage of the population in farming is partly explained by the increasing use of more powerful and complicated machinery.

But the basic cause of accidents -- on the farm or off -- is human neglect of safety procedures.

In one year accidents take the lives of approximately 1,400 Canadian farm and rural residents. They injure about 25,000 of them and permanently disable around 1,500.

Studies show that farm machinery fatalities per 100,000 farmers doubled in the past decade. Of all fatal machinery accidents, for example, 78 per cent involve tractors and of these more than half are overturn accidents.

Farm mechanization has reduced the time and effort required for many farm operations and has helped bring about the spectacular increase in Canadian agricultural productivity. But machinery has brought increased hazards. And though hazards are inherent in the equipment, it is the human lack of care and attention to safe operating practices that cause the accidents with machinery.

Following the tractor, farm machines most commonly involved in fatal accidents are combines, balers, corn pickers, forage harvesters and spreaders.

The principal type of farm machinery accidents involves the victim being caught in machines or being crushed. Many farmers fail to keep guards and shielding in place or they attempt to service equipment while it is under power. In some accidents they have fallen from moving equipment.

According to national studies, 72 per cent of accidents involving rural residents occur on the farm or in the farm home and 28 per cent off the farm.

On the farm, 45 per cent of the accidents happen in the farm yard, 28 per cent in the field and 27 per cent in and around the home. Off the farm, 42 per cent are on main highways, 30 per cent on secondary roads and 28 per cent elsewhere.

Youngsters are distressingly significant in the farm accidents statistics. Ten per cent of farm machinery deaths occur in the under-10 age group. A further 16 per cent involve the 10-19 age age group, all of whom are killed in overturns or are crushed.

"Children and young people who lack the physical capacity, experience and judgement, should not be permitted to operate tractors and farm machinery", is the warning given by the Canada Safety Council and the Canadian Farm and Industrial Equipment Institute.

The organizations also point out that the practice of allowing children or even adults to ride as passengers on tractors and farm equipment should not be permitted.

Fuels, oils and greases require safe handling too. Accidents result in lack of knowledge and carelessness in the handling and storage of petroleum products and in refueling equipment. Some farmers, their employees and families still forget to turn off switches while fueling is being carried out. Another example of fire danger is the re-starting of a hot motor when fuel has been spilled on it or near it.

In its plea to all farm and other rural residents to help "weed out farm hazards", the Canada Safety Council points out that the responsibility of preventing the accidents rests with everyone engaged directly or indirectly with the farming industry.

LIBRARY NEWS

New books have been arriving in all classifications. Some of these are: "Strange Doings", a science fiction collection by Lafferty.

"Cold War in a Country Garden" by Gutteridge tells of a peaceful garden that becomes a jungle full of monstrous terrors. "The Gods Themselves" by Asimov concerns itself with inter-relationships between three separate worlds. "Ultimate World" is the story of Xeno invasion of 1996.

"Easy Steps to Successful Decorating" by Bradford is well illustrated and should prove to be a worthwhile addition to our collection on home decorating. "Raisins and Almonds" is a collection of reminiscences in which the author, Fredelle Maynard, recalls her growing-up years in a small Canadian prairie town.

"Angel Cove" is by Will Bird, the well-known author of books on the Maritimes.

"The Terminal Man" by Michael Crichton is called a novel but reads like a work of science fiction. The central figure is a dangerous paranoid who has twice attempted murder. A team of surgeons proposes to connect his brain to a computer which will regulate his behavior.

"The Unbeaten" by Lutz is a western--bad guys, good guys and a beautiful woman. "The Second Kiss" by Rogers is the same theme as Capp's "Woman of the People". A white woman is made captive by an Indian. "Encounter at Dawn" is the sort of mystery that keeps one on the edge of a chair until the last page. Of the two dozen or more new books for young adults and children the most striking are: "A Child in Prison Camp" by Takashima, an account of the 22,000 men, women, and children of Japanese origin who were living on the west coast of Canada in December of 1941. These Japanese were removed from their homes and sent to the interior of Canada because we were at war with Japan and they might be guilty of sabotage. By many thinking Canadians it is a disgraceful thing that the property of these people (many of them born in Canada) was confiscated and they were sent for three years to primitive forest camps in the interior of B.C.

Also stories and picture books.

Again we are approaching the time when new applications to get herds on R.O.P. should be made.

The program is growing rapidly, especially in the commercial herd section.

What are the aims of the program? The primary purpose is to assist beef cattle producers to improve the performance of their herds. Growth rate is an inherited characteristic which can be increased by a selection program. Record of Performance (R.O.P.) encourages breeders to set up accurate records and to develop sound practices in culling poor performers.

Weighing your cattle won't make them any better, but it will make you a better manager. Your performance records will be useful to buyers because your cattle will be compared on a within herd index. You are not in competition with your neighbor. You are comparing only with your own cattle. If you weigh only the top end of your cattle you actually downgrade your best cattle. The only way a performance test can help either the breeder or the person using the records for the purpose of making purchases is if the entire herd is enrolled and all the calves are accounted for. WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

(A) Any breeder of beef cattle who is prepared to continue the program on a long term basis. (B) For purebreds a minimum sex group of five animals born within a 90-day period; for commercial, a minimum of 10 animals born within a 90-day period. (C) All those whose calves are identified at birth and birthdate recorded--any calving problems should be recorded. (D) Have dam and sire recorded as to breed and identification number. (E) Will take weaned weights and yearling weights.

HOW TO KNOW WHEN A PRODUCT IS HAZARDOUS

How can you tell when a household product is hazardous? In one way, almost all products can be considered dangerous, depending on how they are used. A pencil, for example, is not hazardous, but it can be dangerous. Used properly, it causes no problem. But if it is misused, intentionally or accidentally, it can cause injury, perhaps even death.

The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs believes that consumers must use everyday common sense when it comes to the possible dangers of using a product. But some products, such as bleaches, polishes, sanitizers, glues and cleansers are hazardous because of substances they contain. These products are necessary and useful but to do the job they are intended for they often need chemical ingredients that are harmful to people. The Department believes people should be told clearly what these hazards are.

In June 1970, a Hazardous Products Act was passed by Parliament. It gave the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs authority to ban hazardous products and to regulate the sale, distribution, advertising and labelling of others. Recently, Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Ron Basford announced the first regulations under this Act. Beginning on June 1, 1971, consumer chemical products mentioned in the regulations, ranging from bleaches to anti-freeze, must be labelled according to a system developed by the Department.

The system is based on a set of easily understood symbols which show what the hazard is and how dangerous it is. Four hazards have been pinpointed: poison, flammable, explosive and corrosive. Three degrees of hazard have been determined: danger (it could kill you), warning (it could make you very ill), and caution (it could make you ill or hurt you).

To support the symbols and provide more information to consumers, the regulations also require that the chief hazards must be stated below the symbols on the main portion of the label or container. Elsewhere on the label, the manufacturer must make a more detailed warning statement and give the recommended first-aid treatment. All symbols and statements must be shown in a certain size depending on the size of the container. This will ensure that the information is displayed prominently in relation to the container's size. All information must appear in English and French.

The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs believes that this new system of labelling hazardous consumer chemicals will reduce the number of poisonings and injuries from these sources. According to the poison control figures, issued by the Department of National Health and Welfare, in 1967 alone there were 38,900 poisonings reported. Of these, 80% were among children four years old or less, and 15,839 cases involved household substances.

No amount of laws or regulations will protect the careless handler of these products--the person who doesn't care. Everyone, parents and children alike, must be alert at all times to hazards around them. The hazardous products regulations will assure that you are told about the hazards, right on the product. It is then up to you to observe these warnings and heed the instructions provided.

With the aid of these symbols, prevent tragedy by looking ahead. Seek out possible hazards and do something about them even if it means putting them under lock and key.

Funeral for Gainford Youth

A large crowd attended the funeral of Gordon Miller, born September 25, 1950 in Edmonton, and died June 28 in a car-train collision near Wildwood.

He leaves to mourn his loss his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Miller of Gainford; and three brothers, Kenneth, Gary and Douglas Starko.

Reverend Howard Cameron officiated at the service in the Legion Hall at Evansburg. Two songs were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Cameron during the service.

Pallbearers were Mr. Raymond Woloszyn, Danny Spuhler, Dennis Getson, George Gabriel, Allan Kimball, and Mr. Ken Croft.

Central Area Reports Major Storm

The first major hailstorm this summer hit the Three Hills region late last Saturday (8 July) afternoon. As usually happens, the storm started as one of several radar echoes that were detected in the foothills in the early afternoon. Most of these died out as they moved northeast, but two of them began to produce some small hail in the Carstairs-

Crossfield area at about 4:00 p.m.

These two small cells merged together and formed a very intense storm system, with tops up to 8 miles high which continued to track northeast passing over Three Hills at 6:00 p.m.

A telephone survey of the area, conducted by Alberta Hail Studies staff, indicates that a large area was hit by hail up to walnut size and several farmers reported hail the size of golfballs. Most of the severe hail damage was confined to a strip about 20 miles long and 2 to 4 miles wide to the southwest of the town of Three Hills. Many farmers in this strip reported crop damage ranging from 75 to 100 per cent.

A tornado also occurred on the southern edge of this storm and moved northeast on a track about 3 miles south of the main hail damage. The area hit was investigated on Sunday by Hail Studies staff. The tornado appears to have started about 8 miles northwest of Acme in the region where the storm was producing the largest hail.

Severe damage was caused to a farm property at this point with one house and two barns demolished and another house badly damaged. The tornado could then be traced for 20 miles by damage to trees until it hit the Frog's Gap campground 2 1/2 miles south of Three Hills where several camping trailers, tents and cars were damaged. The tornado then died out as the whole storm system lost intensity.

Tomahawk News

Your reporter (Evelyn Lukaniuk) wishes to apologize for the delay in the news. Bill had an accident with the gravel truck, so while it was being fixed we took a few days holiday. Gail, Kim, and I went to Elk Point to pick Bill up and stayed in that part of the country. I spent July 1st at the Ojibwa Lake Indian Reserve Rodeo. Also went to a stock car race, toured Grand Centre, Cold Lake, and did some successful fishing at Moose Lake while there.

July 1st picnic was quite successful even if it was cold. The parade was very good although it was short. The Fire Department took first prize, while Tomahawk and District Club took second and the Curling Club third.

After the parade the Tomahawk Mosquitos played ball against Lobstick. Tomahawk won. The second game was a pick up game of Tom Thumb players. In the third game the Tomahawk Beavers defeated Violet Grove Beavers. Then the 4-H had their Slave Sale and the races were run off. Then came the big boys' ball games. The Drayton Valley Bisons played the Easyford old timers and the old timers won. The Bisons defeated a Highvale team in the next game.

There was also bingo, horse shoe and ball throwing, and a wishing well. There was a hobby and craft display at the curling rink, with a wide variety of items displayed. The following are only a few of the things shown. A leather water bag and an ebony war club from India. A round rock with a hole in the center and Indian writing on it found south of Tomahawk. An African spear, leather craft, matts, rugs, Ukranian embroidery, china from the old country. There were many other interesting antiques and items.

As it was a cold day, there were a lot of hamburgers and coffee sold. The Day ended with a dance at the hall.

The ladies on the committee to plan the kitchen at the school have been meeting this last week. They went to Drayton Valley to see the kitchen at the new school. Then came back to plan their own. It's not an easy job, and I'm afraid there'll be a few sleepless nights before the planning is completed.

The 4-H Achievement Day and Calf Sale was on Tuesday, July 4th, with 33 Club calves being sold.

On June 25, Mrs. Schoepp and Wayne drove to Terrace, B. C. to spend a few days with Delores, Bob and family. While there, they went to the "Tommy Hunter Show" at Kitimat. On July 2nd, Bob and his horse entered the Gymkhana at Terrace. He won two firsts and two thirds. Mrs. Schoepp came home by bus on July 4th and Wayne came home a few days later. Gary Schoepp has now gone on a two week holiday to Shuswap, B. C. to fish and water ski with Max and Bill Wiedeman, their wives and some friends.

We wish to welcome back to Tomahawk Joyce (nee Jouan) and Don Boorse and family, Joe and Olive Jouan's daughter and son-in-law. Don is an electrician and is going to help Joe. They are living in the apartment above the old store.

Congratulations to Emil and Velda Jouan on the arrival of their first grandchild. Their daughter, Donna and son-in-law, Paul French, of Edmonton, are proud parents of a baby boy born on July 10th and his birth weight was 6 pounds and 6 ounces. The little fellow's name is Preston Craig.

The ball season is winding up. All the league games have been played. The Tomahawk ladies are the winners of the Western Division. They are now playing against the winners of the Eastern Division. They have entered the Provincials and will be soon starting those games. The Tomahawk Beavers are first in their league and have to play against the Violet Grove team, which is in third place in the semifinals. Tomahawk has won the two out of three and are now playing Entwistle in the finals. They beat Entwistle on July 13th and will play again at Entwistle on July 14th. This also has to be a two out of three win.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodro Combs are having an open house birthday party for Mrs. Combs on her 80th birthday on August 20th at the United Church Wing at Devon from 2:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Anyone knowing Mrs. Combs and wishing to see her and wish her a happy birthday is asked to come. You're all invited. (No gifts or food, please).

Several children of the district are taking advantage of the three week swimming course at Entwistle again this year. Bill Wickware is going to bus them there. All arrangements have been made by the Parkland County Recreation.

Congratulations to Kerri Dunbar and Bob Redlinger who have recently become engaged.

Vacation Bible School will be on July 31st to August 4th, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. All children from three years and up are welcome to attend.

Believe it or not it almost seemed like one of those good old-fashioned picnics we used to have about thirty or forty years ago - yes! It was a belated twenty-fifth wedding anniversary lawn party for Albert and Winnie Martin on July 2nd. About a hundred and thirty-five guests enjoyed a barbecued beef dinner, thanks to Everitt Pryor the chef, with all the trimmings that go with it. Albert and Winnie's anniversary actually was on January 20th but the children wanted to wait until summer to give their parents a nice party. A job well done, kids.

Mrs. Eunice Pryor made a lovely wedding cake for them which was cut and passed around after which the gifts were opened and displayed. The guest book will also be a nice keep sake to look back at, a few years from now.

The smiles on Albert and Winnie's faces expressed the joy they felt for the efforts of their children and the best wishes which they received from their families, relatives and many friends and neighbors.

D. V. Man Asphyxiated

Allen Sawyer, 45, of Drayton Valley, was found dead in his car the morning of July 14th on an oil lease 3/4 miles west of the Easyford campground.

Local RCMP say the man died of asphyxiation in the early morning, and was found about 11:00 a.m. by a man checking the oil lease.

He leaves his wife Beatrice and four children, all of Drayton Valley, to mourn his loss.

Miss Kathy Harke won the Horse category of the PV Daze Parade Saturday, July 15
